FAQS ON TAXATION FOR VOLATILITY, COMMODITY AND CURRENCY PROSHARES ETFS

1. I understand that Volatility, Commodity and Currency ProShares ETFs ("Fund" or "Funds") are treated as partnerships for tax purposes. Can you give specifics on how I can expect my investment to be taxed?

Partnerships are "pass-through" entities. The income and expenses of each Fund "flow through" to its shareholders. (This differs from mutual funds and most ETFs registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, which pass through taxable income and capital gains in the form of distributions reported on a Form 1099.) Each shareholder of Volatility, Commodity or Currency ProShares ETF is directly responsible for reporting his or her pro rata portion of income, gains, losses, deductions or other taxable events in the ETF for the calendar year.

While investors may incur trading profits or losses through buying and selling the Funds, they are also subject to tax on their portion of any income or gains passed through by the Trust. In addition to income and gains, each Fund can also pass through losses, which shareholders may use to reduce their personal taxes. The tax treatment of income, gains or losses depends on the Fund's underlying positions. For example:

- The Funds will earn income from debt securities and overnight investments. An investor's pro rata portion of that income will be taxed at the investor's ordinary income tax rate.
- The Funds will invest in a range of derivative instruments, including futures and forward contracts. In general, open futures positions will be marked to market, with their gains and losses reportable as 60% long-term and 40% short-term. The reporting of gains and losses may vary depending on the specifics of a contract.
- Commodity and Currency ProShares also enter into swap agreements and non-currency forwards that generally produce capital gains/losses that are likely short-term in character.

Monthly financial statements in accordance with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP) for each Fund will be posted on our website on each Fund's Overview page. Be sure to consult your financial professional or a tax professional for advice as to your particular tax situation.

2. How do the Funds pass through capital gains or income to the investor?

Unlike mutual funds and most ETFs, the Funds are not expected to make distributions with respect to capital gains or income. The Funds are treated as partnerships for tax purposes, so an investor's allocated share of a Fund's income, gains, losses and deductions is reported on a Schedule K-1. Investors will not receive a Form 1099-DIV, issued by most mutual funds and other ETFs, which itemizes the taxable distributions received by the investor.

From a tax perspective, any distributions from the Fund that might occur will be characterized as nontaxable return of capital (lowering the investor's cost basis). Additionally, each investor's allotment of the Fund's taxable income, as reported on the Schedule K-1, should increase or decrease the investor's cost basis.

Monthly GAAP financial statements for each Fund are posted on our website on each Fund's Overview page.

3. Why do the figures on my Schedule K-1 differ from the figures on my tax information from my broker?

Schedule K-1s will reflect your pro rata portion of income, gain, losses, or deductions from fund-driven activities, which are actions the Fund has taken as part of its operation, whereas your 1099-B/R will reflect proceeds from sales of ETFs.

As a result, your Schedule K-1 tax package may include a Sales Schedule which provides instructions on how to compute your gain or loss to fully reflect your experience as a shareholder and a partner of the Fund.

If you sold shares and did not see a copy of your Sales Schedule with your Schedule K-1 tax package, please contact Tax Package Support at 866-949-5539.

4. How does ProShares calculate my pro rata portion of a particular Fund?

Your pro rata portion is determined by the number of shares of the Fund you hold or have held and the duration for which you've held them. If you own shares in a Fund at the beginning of a month and sell them during the month, you may still be responsible for and allocated a pro rata portion of income, gains, losses and deductions that were realized during the full month in which you sold your shares.

5. If I purchased shares in a Fund, what is my tax reporting responsibility for this investment?

Income, gains, losses and expenses are generally reported on the Schedule K-1 we send you and should be included on your tax return. How many shares you've held and the duration for which you've held them determines the portion of any income, gains or losses allocated to you through the K-1. Be sure to consult with a tax professional and/or your financial professional.

For tax years beginning after 2012, new Internal Revenue Code ("IRC") Section 1411 imposes a 3.8% surtax on certain investment income of individuals and of trusts and estates. Your share of income reported on this Schedule K-1 and any gain on the sale of Partnership units may be subject to this surtax. The Partnership encourages you to consult your tax advisor concerning the impact of IRC Section 1411 to you.

6. If I sell shares in a Fund, what is my tax reporting responsibility for this transaction?

Any gains or losses on your sales of shares should usually be reported on your tax return. In addition to any sales of shares reported on your Form 1099-B from your broker, the Sales Schedule portion of the Schedule K-1 we send you will reflect any sales of your investment(s) in the Fund(s). It will also reflect related adjustments to your tax basis. The Sales Schedule includes a worksheet to help you calculate your total gains or losses. Be sure to consult with a tax professional and/or your financial professional.

Note: A Fund's income, gains, losses and deductions are allocated to shareholders on a monthly basis. If you own shares in a Fund at the beginning of a month and sell them during the month, you are generally still considered a shareholder through the end of that month.

7. I didn't receive any cash disbursements from my investment in the Fund(s). Why are there reportable items on my K-1 that are subject to tax?

Each investor in the Fund(s) accounts for his or her pro rata portion of income or losses in the Fund(s) on an annual basis - regardless of whether or not that income, gain or loss is distributed. How many shares you've held and the duration for which you've held them determines the portion of any income, gains or losses allocated to you through the K-1.

8. Can I receive my K-1 information any earlier?

You can sign up now to receive your future tax information up to one week faster by eliminating the need for a paper K-1. Simply locate your investment(s) on www.taxpackagesupport.com/proshares, register your email address and choose the Paperless option.

By choosing to eliminate paper K-1s, investor tax information will bypass the U.S. Postal Service and be delivered securely through the website. You will even be notified via e-mail the instant the K-1s are available. You will have the option of saving the electronic version of your tax information to your personal computer or printing a hard copy.

9. Do I have to report a Schedule K-1 if my shares were held in a non-taxable account?

The reporting responsibility of a Schedule K-1 received for Fund shares held in a non-taxable account may differ than if held in a taxable account. Therefore, please consult with your tax advisor for more information.

10. Will I get a K-1 if I only bought shares to cover a short position?

Covering a short position shouldn't generate a Schedule K-1. Some brokers may not distinguish between long and short positions when reporting transactions to our tax accountants. If you received a Schedule K-1 due to covering a short position, please contact Tax Package Support at 866-949-5539 for correction. Please note that our Tax Package Support staff is not qualified to give tax advice or answer questions regarding your particular tax situation.

11. What if the information reported in my tax package is incorrect?

The tax calculations found within the tax package you received are based on purchase and sale information obtained from brokers and various reporting sources. If the information provided by these sources is incorrect, the information reported to you, as well as the information reported to the Internal Revenue Service, may also be incorrect. If your ownership records do not agree with the transactions reported on the Ownership Schedule contained in the tax package, please contact Tax Package Support at 866-949-5539 to obtain a corrected K-1.

12. Is any of the allocated income Unrelated Business Taxable Income (UBTI)?

We do not expect any UBTI. If there is UBTI, it will be detailed on the Schedule K-1 in box 20 with the letter "V" indicated.

13. I have questions about the Schedule K-1. Where can I get help?

Shareholders with questions about the Schedule K-1 can visit each Fund's tax package support website (www.taxpackagesupport.com/proshares) where you can:

- Sign up for an email alert to notify you when your tax package is available and eliminate paper K-1s.
- View your prior year tax schedules.
- Print your tax package, including instructions.
- Download a file of your Schedule K-1 information that can be imported into select tax software.
- Request changes to incorrect information.

In addition, shareholders will find contact information for our Tax Package Support staff. Please note that our Tax Package Support staff is not qualified to give tax advice or answer questions regarding your particular tax situation. Please refer these questions to your tax advisor.

If you disposed of your partnership interest during 2023, this Sales Schedule is provided to assist you in the calculation of your gain or loss as a result of your disposition. IRS Revenue Ruling 84-53 provides that a partner has a single unified basis in their partnership interest. If you acquired units through various purchases, each row on the schedule above includes a prorated amount of each acquisition reflecting the unified basis of the disposed partnership interest. The partnership has provided this schedule solely as a courtesy. Basis information is not reported to the Internal Revenue Service by the Partnership. Each partner must make their own determination of the amount of basis to be associated with the partnership interest that was sold during the year. Please consult with your tax advisor to obtain advice on how this determination should be made. If you notified the Partnership that you used an alternate basis disposition method, the schedule above will generally yield a result that is not consistent with IRS Revenue Ruling 84-53.

If you disposed of a portion of your partnership interest (rather than your entire interest) you may be subject to the passive activity loss limitation rules. Please consult with your tax advisor for the appropriate tax treatment. For additional information to comply with §864(c)(8), please contact Tax Package Support at (866) 949-5539.

ProShares Reverse Splits Effective June 23, 2023

What is a reverse split?

A reverse split increases the price per share and proportionately reduces the number of shares outstanding for a fund. As with a forward split, a reverse split does not change the value of investors' investments. For example, in a one-for-four reverse split, every four pre-split shares held by a shareholder will result in the receipt of one post-split share, which will be priced four times higher than the NAV of pre-split shares.

Which ProShares are subject to reverse splits and what are the ratios? What are the new CUSIPs?

Each fund undergoing a reverse split will be issued a new CUSIP number (see table below).

Funds subject to reverse splits effective on June 23, 2023:

Ticker	Fund	Split Ratio	Old CUSIP	New CUSIP
BOIL	ProShares Ultra Bloomberg Natural Gas	1:20	74347Y870	74347Y763
UVXY	ProShares Ultra VIX Short-Term Futures ETF	1:10	74347Y839	74347Y771
VIXY	ProShares VIX Short-Term Futures ETF	1:5	74347Y854	74347Y789

How many shares of each fund will be received as a result of the reverse split?

Hypothetical Fund ABC is undergoing a one-for-four reverse split. This means that for every four shares of Fund ABC, an investor will receive one share.

Example of a hypothetical 1-for-4 reverse split:

	# of Shares Owned on Record Date	Hypothetical NAV	Value of Shares
Pre-Split	1,000	$10.00	$10,000.00
Post-Split	250	$40.00	$10,000.00

Post reverse-split, shareholders will own fewer shares but the price per share will be proportionately higher. As a result, the value of an investment will not change. If the reverse split results in a fractional share, the fractional share will automatically be redeemed for cash.

Why has ProShares decided to reverse split the shares of these funds?

ProShares believes it is in our shareholders' best interests to execute these reverse splits in order to keep the share prices within efficient trading ranges, and to seek to avoid low share prices. Forward splits help reset share prices to a range that helps maintain liquidity, especially if the price gets too expensive relative to other choices in the marketplace.

Reverse splits may help reduce bid-ask spreads. For funds with a lower share price, bid-ask spreads represent a higher percentage of the transaction price than for higher-priced funds, which can increase both costs and volatility—even when the spread is higher. ProShares believes a reverse split can adjust the share price to a more cost-effective level for the fund's shareholders, and therefore it is in our shareholders' best interest to do so.

Will ProShares reverse splits incur any additional fees?

Some brokerage firms may assess a corporate action processing fee. Shareholders should check with their brokerage firms to determine whether their accounts will be charged.

Will ProShares reverse splits create any taxable events?

It is possible that taxable events could be created for some shareholders in funds undergoing a reverse split. For shareholders who hold quantities of shares that are not an exact multiple of the reverse split ratio (for example, not a multiple of 2 for a 1:2 split), the reverse split will result in the creation of a fractional share. Fractional shares cannot trade on the exchanges, so post-reverse split fractional shares will be automatically redeemed for cash and be sent to each shareholder's broker of record. This redemption may cause some shareholders to realize gains or losses, which could be a taxable event for those shareholders.

Who will participate in the reverse splits?
